The following text will force the program to display every possible combination of statement and sentiment arrangements, when there are 3 possible sentiments (neutral, positive, and negative). There are 39 possible arrangements total, 3 for one statement, 9 for 2 statements, and 27 for 3 statements. The text should be displayed in the following order, with the following text colors:

```
// TNG test
I did not know how many days it had been.
I did not know if they were still searching for me.
I...forgive me, I need a moment.
Just before I was rescued, he offered me freedom.
Anything I wanted, if I would just tell him how many lights I saw.
The thing is...
In the end, I really did see 5 lights.

// YMXD test
My beliefs are not as concrete as they once were.
The world is not as simple as black and white.
Yesterday, I judged an innocent man as guilty.
It was a simple mistake.
Anyone could have made it.
Yet, I shouldn't be making any mistakes.
I'm grateful that my aide managed to bring him back to the courtroom.
But she doesn't deserve the pressure I'm putting on her.
I fear that I cannot live up to the standard required of me.
I fear that I've never been able to.
I will surely be replaced soon.
When I am judged, I hope they will be kind.

// LL test
Ah, we met yesterday!
She had bought two tickets to the aquarium up in the city.
It went really well!
We even ran into some of our friends from the group.
They were doing well, too.
Last I heard, they were going through a rough patch.
So it was a relief to see them out on a date.
Nico even told me that they're planning to move in together.
Um, let me think...
Well, we did have an argument about maintaining a relationship while she's traveling for work.
But we worked it out, and we're doing fine now.
```

// ENP test
Do you believe in gravity?
It's the force that draws people together.

// FV test
When you're sitting at a table, with a napkin on either side, which one do you take?
Right or left? Any choice is correct.
As long as you take your napkin first, the others will have no choice but to follow your example.

// SMTN test
We lost everything.
But he was still alive.
Still, I'm not sure if it's a life worth living.

// MTLCA test
Without iron, your blood cells cannot carry oxygen throughout your body.
You can breathe as hard as you like and still suffocate.

// CZD test
I can fix anything.
But even I can't bring back the dead.
It's just a fact.

// JSPH test
Yeah, I tend not to think things through, but everything usually turns out alright.
Nothing's killing me but old age.